SVCE & SVILC Terms and Liability for the :

Silicon Valley Clean Energy (SVCE) and Silicon Valley Independent Living Center (SVILC) expressly disclaim any and all liability associated with the Yeti 3000 battery. Customers receiving a Yeti 3000 battery from SVCE and SVILC are responsible for reading all instructions and warnings provided by the manufacturer. SVCE and SVILC shall not be liable for any injury or damage that arises out of the use or misuse (including any use other than the intended use) of the Yeti 3000 battery.

All applicable warranties are from the manufacturer and the customer must work with the manufacturer directly for any warranty matters or issues associated with the Yeti 3000 battery, including any instance of repair. Acceptance of the battery from SVCE at no or reduced cost constitutes acceptance of these terms and disclaimers.

Upon receiving the battery, I hereby release, indemnify and hold harmless SVCE and SVILC from any claims arising out of or related in any way to the battery's performance and/or SVCE and/or SVILC's actions pursuant to this agreement, unless SVCE or SVILC's actions are proven to be reckless and intentional. Neither party shall be liable to the other for incidental or consequential damages under this agreement.

Upon receiving the battery, I hereby waive any right i may have under section 1542 of the California civil code which provides as follows: "certain claims not affected by general release--a general release does not extend to claims which the creditor does not know or suspect to exist in his favor at the time of executing the release, which if known by him must have materially affected his settlement with the debtor.
