Rating Action: Moody's Ratings upgrades Silicon Valley Clean Energy Authority's (CA) issuer rating to A3 from Baa1; outlook stable

03 Mar 2025

New York, March 03, 2025 -- Moody's Ratings (Moody's) has upgraded Silicon Valley Clean Energy Authority's (CA) (SVCE) issuer rating to A3 from Baa1. The outlook is stable.

RATINGS RATIONALE

The rating upgrade to A3 from Baa1 incorporates our view that SVCE's credit profile continues to be supported by an improved liquidity profile and by a very strong and resilient service territory that serves over 288,000 customers throughout Santa Clara County, CA. Santa Clara County has a median family income just over $183,000 as well as a population upwards of 1.9 million people. SVCE's rating also incorporates the strengths of the California CCA model which provide it with a captive and sticky customer base capable of delivering reliable revenue and cash flow on a consistent basis despite variations in cost, as shown by the relatively low customer opt-out rate.

The rating is also bolstered by SVCE's strong liquidity profile which is expected to further improve in the medium term. Management has also raised SVCE's liquidity targets to 350 days cash on hand from 300 days. SVCE also has a flexible rate setting ability that is not benchmarked to Pacific Gas & Electric Company's (PG&E) rates, but rather can offer customers a discount when applicable along with the ability to adjust rates to be on par or higher with PG&E's rates if they deem appropriate. SVCE's current rates represent a 4% discount to PG&E.

SVCE also has a diversified power procurement mix that incorporates multiple long-term PPAs covering the majority of expected load. The CCA has also completed three prepay transactions that has resulted in annual savings of $14.3 million during the initial bond reset periods. The CCA also employs a conservative risk management and hedging strategy that has significant load hedged on a tiered basis multiple years in advance.

RATING OUTLOOK

The stable outlook reflects our expectation that SVCE can maintain strong liquidity comfortably in excess of 250 days on a sustained basis while conservatively managing its power portfolio and maintaining low opt-out rates. The stable outlook also incorporates our view that SVCE's economic service territory will remain strong and supportive of the clean energy value proposition the CCA offers.

FACTORS THAT COULD LEAD TO AN UPGRADE OF THE RATING

- Trend of strengthening financial operations continues, including growing net position and maintaining internal liquidity comfortably above 350 days on a sustained basis
- Demonstrated resiliency and flexibility in response to market changes or economic weakness
- Narrowing or de-risking of power related remarketing risk
- Broader statutory acceptance of the CCA business model

FACTORS THAT COULD LEAD TO A DOWNGRADE OF THE RATING

- Significant and permanent load loss, impacting SVCE's ability to remain competitive and negatively impacting ability to maintain or increase current liquidity level going forward
- Decline in financial liquidity for a sustained period such that liquidity profile weakens below 250 days cash on hand
- Changes to state policies that weaken CCA's competitive position
- Inability to manage power procurement market risk such that cost volatility, financial losses or customer under-collections and an increase in opt-out rates occur

PROFILE

Headquartered in Sunnyvale, CA, Silicon Valley Clean Energy Authority (SVCE) is a California Joint Powers Authority (JPA) formed in March 2016 and created to provide all customers with carbon-free electricity within Santa Clara County, with 12 cities and unincorporated Santa Clara County participating. SVCE provides electric service to more than 288,000 retail customers as a CCA under the CPUC Code Section 366.2. SVCE has the rights and powers to set rates for the electricity it furnishes, incur indebtedness, and issue bonds or other obligations. SVCE is governed by a board of directors consisting of elected representatives from each jurisdiction. SVCE has a local rate-setting process in which its board has authority to raise rates to grow annual revenues and reserves, if needed.

For ratings issued on a program, series, category/class of debt or security, certain regulatory disclosures applicable to each rating of a subsequently issued bond or note of the same series, category/class of debt, or security, or pursuant to a program for which the ratings are derived exclusively from existing ratings, in accordance with Moody's rating practices, can be found in the most recent Credit Rating Announcement related to the same class of Credit Rating.

For provisional ratings, the Credit Rating Announcement provides certain regulatory disclosures in relation to the provisional rating assigned, and in relation to a definitive rating that may be assigned subsequent to the final issuance of the debt, in each case where the transaction structure and terms have not changed prior to the assignment of the definitive rating in a manner that would have affected the rating.
